

Hong Kong Monetary Authority
“Four Faces of Talents in Central” Video Series

Drama Video 3 - The Scientific Timing of Getting off Work

|                   |                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
|-------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Super:            | Among the four faces of talents in Centralwhich one is most like you?Gotta Leave FastThe Scientific Timing of Getting off WorkGetting off WorkLogical and Analytical Type |
| Male Colleague:   | It is 6:00pm, time to get off work                                                                                                                                                                |
| Main Character:   | Although it is 6:00pmeveryone wants to leave after the bossData tells the truth!Leaving at 6:25pmcan reduce the chance of running into the boss to 2.4%                           |
| Super:            | 6:25 PM↓ 2.4%                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Male Colleague:   | Hey, I just ran into the bossand was asked to stay to discuss work                                                                                                                            |
| Super:            | Getting off WorkVisionary Type                                                                                                                                                                |
| Female Colleague: | What a sudden downpour                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Main Character:   | Why so worried about the rainI have a car                                                                                                                                                     |
| Female Colleague: | You have a car?I was thinking of getting one tooCan I get a ride from you?                                                                                                                |
| Main Character:   | Of course you can                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Female Colleague: | You are always so environmentally consciousIs it the latest model of electric vehicles?                                                                                                       |
| Main Character:   | Speaking of electric vehiclesThey are indeed more energy efficient than traditional gasolinevehiclesTo save the earthstart green investments as early as possible!                |

Super: Are you done?
Can we get into the car?

Main Character: We can raise fund for investing in renewable energy projects to improve the climate and environment
But this type of vehicle is more powerful than the electric ones and that is human-powered vehicles!

Super: Human-powered vehicles

Main Character: You see, there is even a hood so you need not worry about the rain

Female Colleague: It comes with a headlight as well but you are not able to give me a ride

Super: Getting off Work
Tech-savvy Type

Male Colleague: Time is up, work is over Remember to bring your umbrella

Main Character: How can I leave Central when it is raining?
There is nothing to worry about when you refer to the “Best Navigation of Getting off Work” mobile app
to plan your exit route

Super: Navigation in progress

Main Character: According to this app
I should go here
then go from here to here which will be quickest route home

Female Colleague: What mobile app are you using?
It looks pretty cool
Help me plan my route please

Super: Getting off Work
Observant Type

Male Colleague: When we get off work what should we eat?

Main Character: The key must be in the details
Amy is curious about new things and loves Japanese food

Super: Greedy for new things

Main Character: Peter is all about promotion offers Affordability comes first food quality comes second

Super: Greedy for a bargain

Main Character: How about this newly opened Izakaya nearby they have a grand opening promotion
I have booked a table for us

Male Colleague: Nice! It is 7:30pm now, let's go

Main Character: As an investment consultant
It is important to keep up with the global investment market
I have to attend a webinar
I will see you at 9:30pm

Which faces of talents in Central do you resemble most?

Super: Logical and Analytical Type Visionary Type
Tech-savvy Type
Observant Type

Which type are you?

Main Character: To learn more from our detailed analysis
Don't miss our videos on expert sharing

Super: Check out the sharing from industry experts!
Four Faces of Talents in Central Uncover the Career Opportunities in the Finance Industry
Hong Kong Monetary Authority Logo